RETHINKING THE SYLLABUS:

SETTING THE STAGE FOR SUCCESS

Why Should You Care?

- Stop answering the same questions over and over.
- Sets the stage for all future interaction with your students.
- Tells students what the course is about and why they should care (besides because they have to take it).
- Gives students clear guidelines for success or failure in the course.

First Impressions

- Syllabus is the first communication with the student.
- Sets the stage for future interaction with students.
- What does your syllabus say about you?
 - I'm boring and I'll bore you.
 - I'm confused and don't seem to know what's going on.
 - I really have no interest in teaching.
 - This class will be interesting and I can't wait to come back.

Course Description and Objectives:

In this course, we explore the history of the United States since end of the Civil War and Reconstruction. You will learn about broad themes in the history of modern America, including immigration, race and ethnicity, social and political reform, mobility and population growth, contested meanings of freedom, industrialization, cycles of prosperity and recession, popular culture, modernity, and rights movements. You will also develop ways of thinking historically through critical analysis of primary and secondary sources; setting events, documents and people in their historical contexts; and crafting interpretations and historical narratives from the "raw material" of the past. In this course, you should expect to do much more than memorize facts or dates – you will be busy actively doing history, not passively learning about history. The course will also cover relevant aspects of the US and Massachusetts state constitutions, in accordance with MA General Laws, Chapter 73, Section 2A¹ and fulfills the college's "Constitutions" requirement.

Required Texts:

James West Davidson et al, Experience History: Interpreting America's Past Volume 2, From 1865 (McGraw Hill 2011), ISBN: 978-0077368326

David Emory Shi and Holly Mayer, For the Record: A Documentary History of America: From Reconstruction through Contemporary Times 4th edition (WW Norton), ISBN: 978-0393934045

Course Requirements:

This course involves reading, writing, and group discussion. It is fast-paced; you will need to absorb at least one textbook chapter each week, plus additional readings or documents, and will write the equivalent of 30 pages over the course of the term. You will need to put in consistent effort during the whole semester. You'll need to have (or learn) basic library and online research skills. You'll need to speak up in class and demonstrate active learning, not passive absorption. Learning is not a spectator sport. To take advantage of multiple learning styles, and to help create a community of learning in this classroom, I will assess your learning in several different ways.

- Attendance and Daily Work 20% – I take attendance in each class. You should be on time and ready for discussion each day. I expect class discussion will be lively, respectful, and substantive, and that you will have done that day's assigned reading before class. There's no such thing as an "excused" absence – you're either in class, or you're not. Daily Work includes pop quizzes, discussion questions, and class participation. These cannot be made up, since they depend on being present in class.

"In all state colleges the constitutions of the United States and of the commonwealth shall be taught as required subjects for the purpose of fitting the students, morally and intellectually, for the duties of citizenship and of school teaching."

- Exams 30% – we will have 4 closed-book tests. The last test will take place during the final exam period but will be the equivalent of the other three exams (not a cumulative final). Your lowest score is dropped; there are no makeup exams.

You'll note that fully half of your grade involves showing up prepared in class, participating intelligently, and taking at least 3 of the 4 exams. The other half of your grade is based on original written work and research.

- Document Responses – 30% (2 double-spaced pages) – You can turn in one of these each week on Fridays. They are short papers analyzing, responding to, or connecting a document from For the Record with our textbook or to a larger issue/theme/current event in American history. These are not opinion pieces, but rather brief works of historical analysis considering primary sources as the "raw material" of history. You can skip one week, since there are 11 possible Fridays. They should be thoroughly proofread for correct grammar and spelling, and should contain a correct footnote to the original document. They need to be turned in DURING CLASS or uploaded to Digital Dropbox BEFORE CLASS TIME on Friday. There are NO makeups or late work accepted on these short papers.
- Projects 20% – you will do two projects of your own original work, each of which involves planning ahead, research, and well-crafted, historically informed writing. For the first project you'll compare two documents in the For the Record reader, and then write a paper that develops an evidence-based historical argument. For the second project, you'll use and then improve a student-made packet of sources for studying a more recent event in American history. Each of these projects is worth 10% of your final grade.

Your grade will be determined this way:

Attendance & Daily Work	20%	Silent attendance does not earn full credit. Sleeping/texting in class definitely does not earn full credit. Daily Work may include pop quizzes, discussion questions, and class participation. These cannot be made up, since they depend on being present in class.
Exams (best 3 of 4)	30%	Exam dates:
Document Responses (10)	30%	You can turn in ONE each week on Friday. You need a total of 10 by the end of the term.
Primary Source Project	10%	An analysis and comparison of two documents from For the Record
History Now Project	10%	A paper/project focused on an event in recent US History (since 1980)
	100%

All of the course information and material is available online in TWO places: on Blackboard, and on a public blog. That way, if Blackboard is down, our work goes on. You should bookmark the blog's url (<http://www.tonahangen.com/wso/us2/>), subscribe to its RSS feed, or add its Google calendar to your own to keep track of due dates.

how to take this course

It's not what you "get" in this course, it's how deep you go. People take a US History survey for lots of reasons, usually variations on "it's required." Think about why someone has decided that learning this material might be essential to your college experience, and what that means for you personally.

It is entirely possible to do well in the class without being transformed by your new-found historical knowledge, but it would be a darn shame. I like to think that this (and indeed, any) course operates on three levels. Imagine we are standing on the seashore; the course is the ocean. Enter with me and go as deep as you dare...

wading

you need the basic outlines of US history, the highlights, the main characters & ideas, the surface-level knowledge

There's nothing wrong with staying in the shallows; this approach may work for you if this is likely to be your only history course, or if you've never taken one before & it's all new

"Waders" will tend to assume that textbook, documents, and professor are mutually reinforcing, telling basically the same story. Waders are mainly concerned with WHAT happened in the past.

snorkeling

you have a grasp of the basics and are ready to think historically and explore what's below the surface

Perhaps you've taken US history before, or are a beginning history major. You already know that history is a conversation among differing and/or contradictory perspectives.

"Snorkelers" notice historical inconsistencies and they respectfully challenge assumptions through lively debate. Snorkelers are interested in HOW & WHY things happened as they did.

scuba diving

you want to go deeper into the past, using the cognitive equipment & tools of history as a focused critical thinker Experienced? You are well aware of historical controversy and how historical knowledge is constructed. You actively seek alternative sources, interpretations, and voices.

"Divers" don't take any of the course's structure or content as natural or inevitable. They see (and then fill) the course's gaps. They are curious, passionate, and concerned with WHY HISTORY MATTERS.

Course Requirements

This course involves reading, writing, and group discussion. It is fast-paced; you will need to absorb textbook material on your own outside of class. You will write the equivalent of 30 pages over the course of the term. You will need to put in consistent effort throughout the whole semester. You'll need to have (or learn) basic library and online research skills. You will need to speak up in class and demonstrate active learning, not passive absorption. Learning is not a spectator sport.

Attendance and Daily Work (20%) I take attendance in each class. You should be on time and ready for discussion each day. I expect class discussion will be lively, respectful, substantive, and that you will have done that day's assigned reading before class. There's no such thing as an "excused absence" – you're either in class, or you're not. Daily Work may include pop quizzes, discussion questions, in-class short writings, and class participation. These cannot be made up, since they depend on being present in class.

Exams (30%) We will have 4 exams. The last one will take place during the final exam period, but will be the equivalent of the other three exams (not a cumulative final). Your lowest exam is dropped; there are no makeup exams.

You'll note at this point that fully half of your grade involves showing up prepared for class, participating intelligently, and taking at least 3 of the 4 exams. The other half of your grade is based on original written work and research.

Document Duel (30%) – 2 double-spaced pages, no more and no less. You can turn in one of these each week on Fridays. They are short papers that give you practice working with primary sources and developing historical interpretations. You can safely skip one week, since there are 11 possible Fridays (but you will get the extra credit if you do all 11). They need to be turned in DURING CLASS or uploaded to Digital Dropbox BEFORE CLASSTIME on Friday. There are NO makeups or late work accepted on these short papers. See p. X for more information on the DDs.

Projects (20%) – you will do two projects of your own original work, each of which involves planning ahead, research, and well-crafted, evidence-based historical writing. For the first project you will compare two documents from the For the Record reader, and then write a paper that uses these documents as evidence for a historical argument. For the second project, you'll use and then improve a student-made packet of sources for studying a recent event in American history. Each of these projects is worth 10% of your final grade.

Why Think About Design?

- A well designed syllabus can make your students excited about the class.
- It can highlight the information they most commonly ask about.
- Give them an idea what the course is about and what they can expect for the semester.
- Helps make students more responsible for their performance in your class.

Getting Started

- Ask yourself the following questions:
 - What do I think is most important for students to know?
 - If you've taught before, what were the most common questions?
 - What confused students the most or was the least clear to students?
 - What tone do I want to set for the class?
 - Are there other ways to present information besides just text?

Set Expectations

- What approaches will be used in the class? Lecture? Discussion? Group work?
- Are students expected to attend all class sessions?
- Are students expected to participate actively in class? If so, what do you consider "active" participation?
- Is it important to keep up with the readings on a daily basis or is it only necessary to complete the readings before the exam?
- How will issues of student diversity be addressed in the classroom?
- Are there guidelines for student conduct which they are expected to follow?
- What special procedures will students need to learn?

Define Student Roles & Responsibilities

- Tell students what you expect them to do, both in class and outside of class.
- Students have a better chance of being successful when they know precisely what you expect.
- Instructors usually include their expectations regarding the following:
 - Attendance
 - Class workload
 - When students should complete the assigned readings
 - Participation
 - Conduct policies
 - Using technology (such as email or the class Web site)
- You can also address any of your "pet peeves" in this section, such as tardiness or eating during class.

College Requirements

- Make sure to verify what is required by your college.
- Should include contact information for you.
 - Office phone number
 - E-mail address
 - Fax number
 - Division Phone number
 - Office Hours and Location
- Textbook information and any required supplies
- Any college policies that are a requirement.
- Any policies that you have separate from college policies.
 - Safety requirements
 - Cell phones
 - Classroom etiquette
 - Tardiness – entering when presentations are being given
 - Food/drink
 - Tape recording policies
 - Hats
 - Plagiarism
- Attendance policies – yours and/or the college's

GRAPHIC DESIGN SURVEY

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course will provide students with a historical survey of Graphic Design and different aspects of the role of the graphic designer and use of design for visual communications in various industries. Internet access is necessary for some aspects of project research and development.

WHAT TO EXPECT

So, someone told you to take this class because it was required or because you needed a Humanities credit, but what can you expect from the course:

- To learn about the history of graphic design including where it started and what role it has played.
- To differentiate between different design styles from history.

- To learn more about design's current role in our society and the interesting work being done by graphic designers today.
- Why graphic design plays such a significant role in our everyday life.
- There is a good deal of terminology to know, but you will not have to identify images by sight.
- Some hands on activities to help you better understand the material.
- To work independently as well as with your fellow classmates.
- Most importantly, you can expect to have lots of fun!

In general, I expect that you come to class on time and complete all assignments and readings. I expect you to be polite and respectful of myself and your fellow classmates.

TEXTBOOK

Graphic Design A New History
by: Stephen J. Eskilson, 2nd Edition, Yale University Press, ISBN: 9780300172607

Handout from Graphic Design History: A Critical Guide

GRADING POLICIES

Essays will be submitted in digital format through Blackboard. Presentations will be presented to the class. A digital copy of the file can also be emailed to the instructor, but is not required. Your project should be completed as specified. It is up to the discretion of the instructor to penalize for absences and lateness.

This course includes three exams and weekly quizzes. There will also be a variety of discussions, activities, a design project, and written assignments, all of which will be given specific deadlines for completion. In addition, you will have several ongoing activities that become part of your "participation" grade. Assignments and essays are expected to be completed outside of class, as homework. All assignments are due at the start of the class date posted. Late penalties are based on calendar days, not class days. It is up to the student to arrange for the instructor to receive any materials turned in late. It is, however, better to turn in a project late, rather than not at all.

Late penalties:

1 day late = -5 pts

2 days late = -10 pts

3 days late = -15 pts

4 days late = -20 pts

After 4 days, assignments may not be accepted and a failing grade could be reported. Instructor can adjust this policy at her discretion.

PARTICIPATION

Participation in class is expected and required. You should be prepared to offer your opinions during classroom discussions and critiques. Participation is part of your grade and a crucial factor when making final decisions about grades.

EXTRA CREDIT

Occasionally, the instructor, at her discretion, may make available an opportunity for a student to earn extra credit. This would be determined either on an individual basis, or as an opportunity for the entire class. I will make a sheet available with details.

GRADING SCALE

Translation of 100 point system to college grade reporting is as follows:

950-884	100-93	4.0	A
883-836	92-88	3.5	B+
835-788	87-83	3.0	B
787-750	82-79	2.5	C+
749-703	78-74	2.0	C
702-655	73-69	1.5	D+
654-608	68-64	1.0	D
607-0	63-0	0.0	E

DISCLAIMER

The grading information provided here is meant as a general guide. However, the instructor reserves the right to adjust the course grading policy as she deems appropriate.

WRITTEN COMPONENTS & PRESENTATIONS

It is expected that all writing assignments will demonstrate college level writing skills including proper grammar, appropriate language, and proper structure. Tying language is not acceptable for writing assignments. The written projects should be neatly typed in MSWord with 1" margins all around, double spaced with footers, headers, and page numbers, with an additional cover page that indicates the title and the information in the next column. Papers may only be submitted in .doc, .docx, or .rtf formats.

All written material should be submitted digitally via the assignment link on Blackboard. Presentations should be done in PowerPoint or Prezi. Test your presentation on many computers to see if it will work correctly. Do not use Keynote or any other software. Make sure to format your presentation consistently. I don't want to see ten different presentations sandwiched together. No hand-written assignments will be accepted.

Put on cover page for written assignment:

Student name & number

Tel #,

Address

Course # and name

Instructor's name

Assignment # and name

Date due and the date assignment was turned in to instructor.

PROJECT

Presentation is important here in the classroom setting. I am trying to prepare you to be competitive in the "real world". In the real world, work cannot be handed to clients in a sloppy fashion or else you may lose the client and your job. As such, you should follow the detailed presentation instructions provided for your project.

Presentation is part of your grade and is worth 20% on each assignment. You spent a lot of time creating your project so your presentation should reflect the time you spent. It could be the difference between one grade and another. PRESENTATION IS IMPORTANT!

Somewhere on each project, clearly visible, place a label stating the following:

Student name & number

Tel #,

Address

Course # and name

Instructor's name

Assignment # and name

Date due and the date project was turned in to instructor.

COURSE POLICIES

Active participation in this course and classroom activities will have a direct impact on your ability to understand the subjects being dealt with, as well as your performance on various projects. As in the real world, unexcused absences or late arrival will be considered a lack of interest in being "employed" (and in this case being educated). This will be reflected in a lower grade. Students are expected to show up for EVERY class and be ON TIME in order to get the most out of classroom instruction, discussions, project work, and instructor feedback. It is important that you NOT schedule other appointments that conflict with your class participation.

CELL PHONES

Cell phones should be on vibrate. If a call is important, please step into the hallway to take the call. DO NOT take phone calls in the middle of class. Additionally, please keep txtg to a minimum. Your focus should be on learning the material.

CONDUCT AND DISCUSSIONS

Everyone has a different point of view, and artists are particularly notorious for expressing theirs. Some folks are a little shy about speaking in front of others, especially during critiques and discussions. Encourage each other, participate, critique, but don't make any personal attacks. That said, students who do not show respect to their classmates or instructor may be asked to leave the class.

FOOD AND DRINK

You may eat and drink in the classroom, but may not do so while sitting at a computer. Always clean up after yourself, including disposing of trash properly and washing up any mess you have left behind. If it is found that students cannot adhere to these guidelines, then no food or drink will be allowed at all in the classroom.

HATS AND MODES OF DRESS

This is an art class. Dress as you see fit. However, you should also be considerate of your classmates and practice some good personal hygiene, try to avoid clothing that may be offensive to others or hats that get in the way of your ability (or others) to see what's going on in the classroom.

PERSONAL ITEMS

Disks, books, and other personal items should be labeled with your name so that efforts can be made for their return in the event that you have left them behind. If you find something that does not belong to you, be sure to make an effort to return it to the rightful owner or, if unavailable, turn it in to an instructor or the Art Office where it will be safely stored until the owner claims it. Students found to engage in unauthorized "borrowing" (stealing) from either the college or their fellow students will face academic discipline or worse.

SAFETY ISSUES

We may be using some materials that may be considered dangerous or toxic. These include paper cutters, mat and X-acto knives, solvent-based markers and glues. Please be considerate of your own and others safety in the use of these materials. All art materials must be carried in proper art bins/tool boxes and any liquids should be kept in airtight containers. Knives should be put away carefully in a latched box and used blades disposed of by taping it in a larger sandwich of cardboard before tossing in the trash bin. The guillotine cutter and other paper cutters provided in the studio should always be returned to their "down" position. Hands should be kept away from the blade, holding the handle or left side of paper/board only.

TAPE RECORDING

The use of tape recorders or camera/video phones in this class is forbidden without first obtaining written permission from the instructor.

PLAGIARISM/CHEATING

According to the policy of the college, plagiarism and cheating are considered Academic Dishonesty and may result in your dismissal from or failure in the course with possible academic consequences from the college, including becoming a part of your permanent academic record.

TARDY

You will be considered tardy if you are more than 15 minutes late to class or leave 15 minutes early. If you do find yourself entering a classroom late or you must leave early, especially during a lecture, student presentation, or critique, please enter and be seated quietly without disturbing others.

ABSENT

You will be considered absent if you miss more than 45 minutes of a class. Two tardies will be considered one absence when reporting to government agencies (see Title IV below) and for determining class participation and attendance. Note that your class participation and attendance is worth up to 25% of your total semester grade. Please note that this can have a significant impact on your financial aid! Financial Aid requires that you regularly attend class in order to receive funds.

EMERGENCY

Absences due to a bonafide emergency may be excused with written permission but will still be considered for grading and reporting purposes. If a medical emergency absence extends beyond two classes, the student should meet with me to discuss other options for completing or withdrawing from the course.

PLANNED ABSENCE

Absences due to planned activities (i.e. regular doctor's appointments, family vacations, etc.) are not excused absences. No exceptions. This course meets at regular times and you should do everything possible to avoid planning any absences during the semester. You are responsible for lecture notes, assignment due dates, etc. Missed materials for the week can be found on Blackboard and you can contact me with questions about the missed materials.

INSTRUCTOR ABSENCES/TARDINESS

While it has only happened very rarely, should it be necessary for me to miss a class, an appropriate substitute instructor will be arranged. Your attendance is still required for this class meeting. In any case, a representative from the Fine Arts Division will issue a message to the class in case of class cancellation.

COLLEGE POLICIES

STUDENTS WITH DOCUMENTED DISABILITIES

Mott Community College is committed to providing equal opportunity for participation in all programs, services and activities and adheres to Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act (1973) and the Americans with Disabilities Act, as amended (2008) to provide effective auxiliary aids and services for qualified students with documented disabilities. Requests for accommodations by students with disabilities may be made by contacting Disability Services at 810-232-9181 or on the web at disability.mcc.edu. Once your eligibility for an accommodation has been determined, you will be issued an Instructor Notification Letter. Please present Instructor Notification Letters to instructors at the start of the semester and/or two weeks prior to the accommodation date (test, project, etc). Requests received after this date will be honored whenever possible.

INCOMPLETES

A student must initiate a request for an "I" (incomplete) from the instructor. The "I" will be given at the sole discretion of the instructor. Typically, an "I" will be given only when the student (a) has completed at least 75% of the class but is unable to complete the class work because of extraordinarily unusual or unforeseen circumstances or other compelling reasons, (b) has done passing work in the course, and (c) in the instructor's judgement, can complete the required work without repeating the course.

WITHDRAWAL

A "W" is a student initiated withdrawal and can be initiated up to the 90% point (approx. up until the last two weeks of class) in the course. Effective Fall 2006, the instructor initiated withdrawal will no longer be available. You MUST go to the registrar's office to initiate a withdrawal.

NO SHOW

The instructor may assign an "NS" grade, which indicates that the faculty member has had, in their judgement, insufficient instructional contact with the student. This can be assigned as early as 20% into the course, but will not be assigned if the student has completed 50% or more of the course work. If the student has completed 50% or more of the coursework, the student must seek a Withdrawal from the course if he/she wishes to drop. Otherwise, the grade earned by the student will be issued.

MCC EMERGENCY CLOSINGS

The college will be closed at the direction of the President when adverse weather or other conditions make it necessary. For closing information, call: 810-232-8989. You can also sign up online for notifications to your phone.

TITLE IV FUNDING ELIGIBILITY

Federal and State guidelines require the college to keep attendance records in order for students to maintain their Title IV fund eligibility. Excessive absences may affect that eligibility.

BLACKBOARD

Blackboard is an important part of this course. Your exams will be administered through blackboard, all lectures, and assignments can be found there. It is an important source if you miss class. I will also make available additional study materials on Blackboard. You do not need to do anything with these, but they will assist you in your success with this course. I expect you to be able to login to blackboard by the first exam.

TO LOGIN AND ACCESS THE CLASS ON BLACKBOARD:

- Go to blackboard.mcc.edu.
- Type in your user name and password.
- On the right hand side of the screen, you should see My Course. Under My Course, you should be able to select this course by clicking on the name of the course from all courses listed.

- This will then take you into the course. All main course navigation is located on the left hand side of the screen. This is where you can locate all materials.

NEED USER NAME OR PASSWORD:

- Go to blackboard.mcc.edu.
- Click on the Student Account Lookup links underneath the sign-in box.
- You will then be taken to a screen where you should enter your seven digit id number and then press submit or enter. This will give you your user name and the formula for your password.

What is Composition?

Personal Narrative, Research, Descriptive, On-Demand

Writers learn to write by reading, and readers learn to write by writing. It's all circuitous. You can't write well, without reading well. We will do both in this course.

Writing is a skill that you need the rest of your life. There will be no ESCAPING it—sending e-mails, text, essay exams, memos, and more. In this course, you will write, write and rewrite. The major difference in this course is that you terms of what you will write. You will experience how to discover topics of writing that are meaningful to you. You will also learn how to make an assigned topic your own. You will learn to know the differences between revision, editing, and proofreading.

You will discover the inherent power that you, as a writer, possess and learn how to harness it to improve your writing. You are expected to bring your writing to a level that it is polished and publishable. You will then share your writing throughout the writing process with the community of writers in class. Also, you will receive and give thoughtful and critical critiques about your writing and your peers.

The ability to read critically is a skill that you will learn. This helps you to become

While there is a great deal of writing; you, as author, will be in full control of the topics and process.

a more thoughtful and deeper reader of your own work. You will combine all of this knowledge with your own experience and connect to the wider world (political, social, scientific, historical, etc.).

Through multiple drafts, conferences, and readings of your work, you will think deeper about your own writing and readings.

This is to help prepare you for the personal and academic writing you will do while here at university and in life. Your words need to have your voice, and you will learn how powerful that voice may be.

Nitty-Gritty Details...

This is a writing workshop course and as such, your daily and thoughtful participation is necessary and required. More than five (4) absences will result in a failing grade for this course. Three absences will result in a decrease in a full grade (for example, from a B to a C) for your final grade...

Late Paper Policy:

Simply written, late papers are not accepted. At work, you can not hand in late papers, neither can you in this Also, if a class day is devoted to revision, peer writing, or is a workshop day and you do not have your writing, you will be asked to leave and the missed day will count as an unexcused absence. Papers not handed in on-time will receive zero (0). You must be present IN CLASS to hand in a paper.

A Quick Note About Excuses:

Computer-related excuses will not be accepted. We all have to deal with the multitudes of difficulties when it comes to technology. You should always back up your work in multiple places. Computer crashes, lost thumb drives, running out of printer ink, electronic failures, etc., will not excuse you from having to produce a final document in time for class.

Author's Notes:

Authors notes are notes from the author to the reader of his/her piece of writing. They introduce the piece of writing, describe its composition process, and lay the groundwork for feedback. Authors notes are required on all pieces of writing, including weekly writings. These notes may range from two paragraphs to a page and a half in length. writing assignment is due. Please take note: without an author's note, your paper is incomplete and WILL receive a zero.

Paperless Class:

We will be paperless (as much as possible) this semester. This is new to me and any hiccups we experience, we'll experience together. To facilitate this, we will be utilizing Web 2.0 tools. Our world is based in technology so will our class.

This course has an online component found at: <http://fall2011comp.wordpress.com/>. This site will be kept up to date on my end. This blog will contain all electronic handouts, calendar of assignments, and more. It is in your best interest to check this site frequently.

You need to create a Blog where all of your weekly writings will be posted as well as your larger papers with their multiple drafts. It is expected that you will comment on each other's work. You will also use your blog for postings. All papers will be submitted electronically to me via Google.

Also, sign up for Gmail (if you don't already). We will use Google Doc (assignment submission) and Google+ for office hours.

Attendance:

Think about it this way... if you don't go to your job, you get fired. Same deal here. You don't attend, you will fail. Any more than three absences and your grade will be lowered. Any more than four and you may not pass this course. This is a workshop class. You can not pass if you're not an active, responsible and contributing member of this classroom.

Grade Breakdown

Participation: 50%
Progress: 30%
Performance: 20%

Course Objectives...

- ✓ This course will give students the knowledge base and develop the positive habits of all successful writers in college and beyond.
- ✓ Give students the opportunity to practice informal, formal and creative writing skills.
- ✓ Develop a topic for writing from the kernel of an idea to a fully developed, well written, and grammatically correct final piece of writing.
- ✓ Understand how to become one's own editor and revise drafts of writing to make them increasingly clear and effective.
- ✓ Students will discover their own unique voice and understand how to apply it to their writing.
- ✓ Utilize the library and the sources in it to integrate into a research paper.
- ✓ Students will develop an ease and comfort level with sharing their written work aloud in front of their peers and with giving and receiving critical feedback.

Academic Support...

Plymouth State University is committed to providing students with documented disabilities equal access to all university programs and facilities. If you think you have a disability requiring accommodations, you should immediately contact the PASS Office (535-2270) to determine whether you are eligible for such accommodations. Academic accommodations will only be considered for students who have registered with the PASS Office. If you have a Letter, give me a copy.

Grading Information >>>

Participation, Progress & Performance

A grade is supposed to reflect how much you've learned during our time together. Grading individual assignments does not accurately reflect this. Grading each paper only provides a mere snapshot of how you did on that one assignment at that time.

The grade you receive at the end of this semester will be determined 100% by you in regards to your Participation, Progress and Performance. (see additional Grading Info)

► Reading: Achievement of advanced literacy and articulate one's responses verbally & in writing.

► Writing: Develop writing process includes pre-write, multiple drafts, revise, edit and polish.

► Critical Thinking: Ability to compare, contrast, analyze & synthesize; challenge underlying assumptions; take imaginative leaps and intellectual risks.

Course Details: Self & Society

Course Information:

This course has a blog component (<http://fall2011outsiders.wordpress.com/>). All handouts, product descriptors and more are found there; including how to submit your assignments. I am attempting to go as paperless as possible. It would be in your best interest to check this frequently.

Late Paper Policy:

Simply written, late papers are not accepted. If a class is devoted to revision or peer writing, and you do not have your writing, you will be asked to leave. The missed day will count as an unexcused absence. Papers not handed in on-time will receive zero a (0).

A Quick Note About Excuses:

Computer-related excuses are not accepted. Always back up your work in multiple places (or use Dropbox). No excuse will allow you from having to produce a final document in time for class.

Participation:

This course requires that every student is engaged in both class activities and discussions. I will work hard to foster an environment of healthy intellectual dialogue, and I expect you to make the same effort.

Attendance Policy:

Attendance is mandatory (like at your job). To succeed in class, you must attend—personally, verbally, written, and socially. If you miss a class, it is your responsibility to find and complete all in-class work & assignments (on-time). In-class work missed may not be made up. More than two unexcused absences will seriously affect your final grade for the course.

Decorum:

We may discuss issues that students may find uncomfortable. Sexist, racist or classist language will not be tolerated. Free exchange of ideas only occurs when all people feel as though they can express their ideas openly & safely.

Academic Support:

PSU is committed to providing students with documented disabilities equal access to all university programs and facilities. If you think you have a disability requiring accommodations, you should immediately contact the PASS Office (535-2270) to determine whether you are eligible for such accommodations. Academic accommodations will be considered for students registered.

This class examines the ways in which humans are both social and individual. Literature has highlighted, debated and critiqued the relationship between the individual and society, the impact the individual has on society and that which society has on the development of individual identity, behavior and the formation of beliefs. Cultures differ in the relative value they give to the individual and to the group; literature allows us to look at that value in terms of our roles as individuals and as (non)conformers to social expectations. Through examples taken from writing and film, this course analyzes the self and society through a selection of topics that include gender, sexuality, race, class, wealth, behavior and socialization.

Academic Integrity:

The seriousness of plagiarism and other academic violations of academic integrity cannot be overstated. I pursue all offenses to the fullest extent possible. You need to read PSU's Academic Integrity policy in the Undergraduate Catalog. If you need help or have questions regarding citation or plagiarism, please talk to me.

Essential Questions:

- ❖ Who is an Outsider? Who decides? Who defines an Outsider?
- ❖ What does it mean to be an Outsider?
- ❖ Who gets to decide what is "normal"?
- ❖ What social, cultural, political, and historical forces define an Outsider?
- ❖ To what nature does society dictate the formation of an individual's identity?
- ❖ When and for what would you choose to be an Outsider?

Quizzes & In-Class Work:

Throughout this semester Throughout the semester, we will have brief in-class assignments which will be used to assess student participation. Assignments might include reading quizzes, writing, group work, a summary, a drawing, or a discussion role. These brief, low-stakes assignments serve several instructional purposes, some of which include checking for understanding, on-going dialogue between members of the course, and analysis and application of course material. Participation assignments may not be made up due to absences.

Personal Un-naming Narrative:

Early in the semester, you will write a narrative in which you reflect on the names, definitions, and identities that have been given to you as well as those which you give yourself. This essay, approximately 3-5 pages in length, will serve to assess your thinking about class ideas and to build a classroom community.

As a side note:
Watching the film version of a text will not "give you enough" information

Course Requirements

Personal Inquiry and Research Portfolio:

There are many ways to explore our course theme, The Outsider, as well as our course questions (see above). In class, we will engage in close reading of literature and film to examine variations of our theme. This project, a major intellectual endeavor, requires that you examine the relationship between self and society or The Outsider further. Specifically, you must develop a question or a "line of inquiry" which interests you personally and which is narrower in scope but still relates to the broader theme.

There are many steps in this research project, including:

- the development of the question;
- a personal reflection about the question;
- library research and the compilation of an working works cited;
- a personal interview;
- weaving in literature from the course;
- a research portfolio and final reflection on the process and class.

You will receive a more detailed explanation of this assignment in class.

Un-Conference:

The last classes are dedicated to an un-conference. This un-conference will be run entirely by you. You will design workshops to run and present to a small group of your peers. We will discuss this further in class. This is your chance to show what you know and will count as your final exam.

Collaborative Blog Project:

The group blog project asks students to work together to create and maintain a blog on a shared text. This project is designed to give you practical experience in the skills necessary to be successful producers of online content.

While your group blog must focus around the group text, the posts may be on any topic, related to the text, of the group's choosing.

The group blog will be a major time investment, and the project will be extremely difficult to complete if not completed to meet the required timelines if all blog posts are held to the last minute.

The five text choices are as follows.

- The Book Thief, Zusak
- Glass Castle, Walls
- Feed, Anderson
- Water for Elephants, Gruen
- Unwind, Shusterman

The groups will consist of four people and each will be responsible for two items:

1. Your individual roles
2. Creation of original blog content.

Also, each member will have a specific role:

1. Managing Editor
2. Content/Copy Editor
3. Visual/Layout Editor
4. Promotional Editor
- 5.

There is additional information, including weekly blog guidelines (in terms of style, length and requirements—although, never on content) on the course blog.

GRADING BREAKDOWN:

Participation: 50%
Progress: 30%
Performance: 20%

See Grading Memo for more information)

COLLECTION:

The Collection is due at the end of the semester, the last day of class. This will include newly revised and edited papers from the course. It will also be used to demonstrate your grade for the course.

There are three (3) types of written analytical work this semester resulting in six total analysis assignments:

1. Meditative Essay
2. Analysis
3. Show Me What You Know

In addition, there is the Personal Inquiry and Research Proposal and your Un-Naming Narrative. All of these are structured to work with each other, build off each other all while still existing in their own.

All assignments must be linked o, in, around and from the essential questions for the course and the texts as well.

Required Texts

Along with two films viewed in class (TBD)

- ❖ American Born Chinese, Gene Luen Yang
- ❖ The Help, Kathryn Stockett

Course Description and Objectives

In this course, we explore US history since the end of the Civil War & Reconstruction

You will study broad themes in the history of modern America, including immigration, race and ethnicity, social and political reform, mobility and population growth, contested meanings of freedom, industrialization, cycles of prosperity and recession, popular culture, modernity, and rights movements. You will also develop the ability to think historically through critical analysis of primary and secondary sources; set events, documents and people in their historical contexts; and craft interpretations and historical narratives from the "raw material" of the past. In this course, you should expect to do much more than memorize facts or dates – you will be busy actively doing history, not passively learning about history.

Since it fulfills your "Constitutions" requirement, the course will also cover relevant aspects of the US and Massachusetts state constitutions. This is in accordance with MA General Laws, Chapter 73, Section 2A, which reads: "In all state colleges the constitutions of the United States and of the commonwealth shall be taught as required subjects for the purpose of fitting the students, morally and intellectually, for the duties of citizenship and of school teaching."

Skill Builders Continued

SkillBuilders are due at the beginning of class on the specified date. You can drop one without penalty since only 4 of the 5 are required, but you will get the full credit for all 5 if you turn them all in. There are no makeups on the SkillBuilders.

Plan ahead: I will not grant extensions or allow late submissions on SkillBuilders. This includes printing/sending after class on the same day it is due, which is not permitted. I am happy to read and comment on late work but it will not receive credit.

Comments: When I return your graded SkillBuilder, I attach a document with the grading rubric and my cumulative comments on ALL your SkillBuilders. I do this so that you can track your improvement using a record of your past feedback throughout the semester. I like to see general improvement over the semester in both your writing and your analytical skills, and I find that it helps students to see all the previous comments each time.

The paperless option: If you submit your paper electronically, you will receive it back electronically. If you submit it as a printed paper, you will receive it back with printed comments attached.

The Fine Print

Regarding plagiarism: On papers and exams, doing your own work is absolutely essential. You must demonstrate academic integrity in taking the online quizzes. In ALL papers, you must cite the sources of any information, quotations or ideas which are not your own, using standard citation methods (Chicago Style). Let me be very clear. The online quizzes are intended to be taken by yourself without others' help. You cannot clip and paste text from the internet or the textbook into your papers and pass it off as your own writing. You cannot turn in a paper that someone else has written or that you have bought or downloaded from online. Plagiarized work or exam/quiz cheating is an automatic zero on the assignment and may cause you to fail the class, at my discretion. I take such violations very seriously. Please familiarize yourself with and follow the University policy on Academic Honesty in the Student Handbook.

Technology Use in Class: We will be busy in every class session and we don't need any electronic distractions. Silence your cell phones before you enter the classroom. If it rings, I reserve the right to answer it. No texting in class. You may bring a laptop, but only for taking notes or accessing relevant course material during discussion. Do not use your laptop in class to surf the internet, check your email, update your Facebook status, or the like. These activities seriously jeopardize your class participation grade.

Help & Resources

If you are feeling lost or overwhelmed...

- 1. Speak up in class
You may not be the only person with the same concern, and we all benefit from working questions out together.
- 2. Make an appointment with me
You are welcome to email or sign up for an appointment to meet during my office hours, or better yet: just drop in. Many questions and issues can be easily resolved this way.
- 3. Consult appropriate online resources
In the sidebar of the website, I've linked to some useful online resources, including a study site, an online textbook, and a writing handbook.
- 4. Get to know the Reference Desk
Our library staff is eager to help guide your research and to orient you to our library's printed and online resources.
- 5. Use the Writing Center
The Writing Center is a free resource at any stage of the writing process, from getting started to revising drafts to polishing a final essay. It's located in Sullivan 306, extension x8112.
- 6. Meet with the History Department Tutor
Our department has a grad assistant with tutoring hours to help students in any history class. Sign up at the Secretary's desk in Sullivan 327 and bring your textbook with you to the tutoring session.
- 7. Visit the Academic Success Center
In some cases, students benefit from tutoring or one-on-one intervention. The Academic Success Center offers (free) tutoring in many subjects, including history, and can also help you with general study, note-taking, or textbook reading strategies. They are located in Admin 130, phone x8111.

Accommodations

If you have a documented disability (learning or otherwise), and you need a reasonable accommodation made for you in this course, please consult with me immediately at the outset of the course so we can design a solution that will help you be successful in the class.
